Corruption Tax Repeal Urged

"The most powerful ally of corruption is apathy," Elliot L. Richardson, former United States Attorney for the District of Massachusetts, told the Andover Taxpayers' Association at Central School Tuesday evening.

"Where apathy exists," he stated, "a political power vacuum also exists. This vacuum has to be filled in some way and if decent citizens do not do the job, it will be done by political opportunists who are always ready to exploit political power for their own advantage.

"Corruption eats away at the very foundations of our community," Richardson said. "It is a tax that contributes nothing to the well-being of the community. The corruption tax, though hidden, is just as expensive as many of the legitimate taxes that you pay in both your business and private lives.

"You are already fighting the inequalities in our tax structure. Now is the time for you to stand up to this other danger to the community and start helping to repeal the corruption tax,"

25 Graduate From Baby-Sitting Course

Certificates were awarded Monday to 25 members of the 8th and 9th grades of the Andover Junior High School, signifying the completion of a six weeks' baby-sitting course.

Offered under the co-sponsorship of the Andover chapter of the American Red Cross and the Andona Society, the co-chairmen, Mrs. Ronald Reader and Mrs. Joseph Dorsey received assistance and full co-operation from the Guidence Department of the Junior High School.

The girls attended five separate lectures pertinent to baby-sitting safety and education. Talks were given on police and fire safety by Officer William Tammany of the Andover Police Department and Acting Lt. Francis Sparks of the Andover Fire Department; Dr. Rose Scuderi talked to the girls

"I like my work, and love the children".

And the children, obviously, return the respect and affection of Mrs. Florence McGrath, supervisor of the public school cafeterias.

Moreover, they like the food well enough to eat 138,333 hot lunches in the last four months of 1961; they drank an extra 62,343 half-pints of milk in the same period.

Official Recognition

Andover, along with other communities in the state, is recognizing school lunch week, and much of the town's officialdom will sit down to a cafeteria meal today in one of the five schools taking part. Central will have no visitors - it's too crowded.

Roast beef is on the menu for today - but it's not a dressed up menu for the adults. The same fare is occasionally served throughout the schools, when the budget allows.

So much for the official celebration - the town fathers will have a good, substantial lunch and come away praising the food and the cafeteria personnel to the skies.

Christ Church Elects Officers

Edmund R. Taylor and Phillips B. Marsden Jr. were elected wardens of the Parish of Christ Church at the 126th annual parish meeting Monday evening.

After a covered dish supper served by the Adult Social Group, the meeting was called to order in the Church by the clerk of the Parish, Kenneth S. Minard. The meeting was opened by a Service of Evening Prayer conducted by the rector, the Rev. J. Edison Pike.

Mr. Pike gave his annual pastoral report at this time. He spoke of the growth in lay leadership and responsibility, of the ever increasing number of people working with great devotion. Numerical growth continues, but even more, the growth in spiritual maturity is reflected in the many successful activities of the Parish. One of the highlights of the past year has been the great success of the experiment in adult education, the Coffee Hour-Forums Sunday mornings, and the space needs have been temporarily relieved by the

Garbage Pick-up Also Urged

The town will be urged to adopt a sanitary land fill dumping method - at an enlarged West Andover site.

The special committee studying this problem, trash and garbage collections, has reported to the Selectmen:

That 60 acres adjacent to the present dump should be acquired.

That a sanitary land fill method be used, but a small amount of burning should be continued where necessary.

That garbage collections be started throughout the town.

That trash collection be put off to some future time.

To begin this program, the committee has asked that money be appropriated in the special article concerning the land acquisition committee for the site.

Another article will ask for $25,000 for a contracted garbage pick-up service.

A third article will call for expanding a sum between $22,000 and $28,000 for a shovel-dozer, to

CAFETERIAS SERVE THOUSANDS OF LUNCHES

Why Is It So?

But what actually goes on in the cafeterias, to make this possible?

COMMUNITY
RADIO TV PHONO SERVICE
17 Newbury St., Near Essex MU 2-5048

How can the cafeterias serve five hot lunches a week, throughout the school year, and charge only 25 cents? And 3 cents for a bottle of milk?

Must be a lot of underwritten costs?

Not so.

Pays Its Way

The cafeteria account is self-sufficient. Salaries for all 37 women are paid from it, as are wages for 25 students who help out; new equipment is purchased for the six facilities; and the youngsters still get a treat now and then - such as roast beef occasionally or ice cream more frequently.

Naturally part of the answer is in federal subsidy - nine cents for every lunch sold, four cents for each bottle of milk sold separately. Plus - and this is a big plus indeed - the quantities of surplus food made available to the town free of any charge except transportation.

Meats, vegetables, butter, flour, fruit - you name it, and the government provides it. Sometimes in large quantities, sometimes enough for one meal.

Thus local whosesalers are used extensively, to furnish the staple items that are not provided by the government.

And there's no skimping on quality, just to keep costs down. As Mrs. McGrath explained it, paying a few cents more for a product often means better quality and actually increased quantity - a worthwhile objective not to be overlooked when planning menus for hungry youngsters.

Likes And Dislikes

Although planning a menu involves more than might be expected at home, the cafeterias offer a wide variety of food.

"I won't put out things the children don't like", Mrs. McGrath asserted, explaining that some hot lunch programs in other communities operate on the basis of serving what the children "should" eat, not what they "want" to eat.

Mrs. McGrath noted that the state and federal officials concerned with the program send nutritionists periodically, and that the menus must conform to all the standards of good diets. Thus, while giving the children what they want to eat, the program carefully maintains a proper diet.

And what do the boys and girls like?

Pizza, hot dogs, Dagwood sandwiches, hamburg and chicken head the list. Green beans and spinach are tops in the vegetable field.

But beets and peas - no thanks. The school children don't think much of them; and fish, except for the oven browned fish, is no great favorite.

Tastes Vary In Areas

Even these likes and dislikes change markedly in the schools.

"They eat everything in the high school", Mrs. McGrath commented. But she described Shawsheen School pupils as being "more finicky", and children at the South School "eat anything" served to them. Kids attending the West School are "good eaters", and those at Central show "good participation in the program", but have some special likes and dislikes.

Even "eye appeal" is considered to be an important factor.

Mrs. McGrath pointed out that the school children "eat with their eyes" just as much as anyone else - and the food is served as atrractively and nicely as possible, catering to this human factor.

Experience Counts

Even after all the effort, it must be a hard task to determine how many children will be eating hot lunches each day?

According to Mrs. McGrath, there's little waste.

Adequate record-keeping allows comparisons with other weeks and months, to get an average number of "eaters" on any given day. And long experience helps a lot in determining how many youngsters will buy hot lunches, based in part on what's being served.

Careful planning makes it possible to cook just about enough of the main dishes - vegetables are more difficult to prepare in quantity and not have some waste.

However, Mrs. McGrath explained that one refuse collector expressed amazement at the small amount of waste, compared to some other cafeterias he serves.

Cooperation Does It

Throughout her description of the cafeterias, Mrs. McGrath stressed the complete cooperation given the cafeterias by the teachers, principals and Supt. of Schools Edward I. Erickson.

Without it, she said, there would, of course, be very difficult times. And she noted that meetings of cafeteria personnel from this area bring out the fact that not all school systems enjoy a cooperative spirit. Many, lacking this, are also running in the red, have lots of waste and are boosting their prices from 25 to 30 cents a lunch.

Cleanliness A Virtue

Of all the ingredients Mrs. McGrath stressed, in terms of sound cafeteria management, cleanliness was uppermost.

She noted that inspectors from the state health department come here unexpectedly - and always find conditions to be satisfactory.

"We don't spruce up, because we know they're coming", she said proudly, "we just keep it that way all the time"

In fact, one woman complained recently because the head of the cafeteria in her area gave out a long, stringent list of things to be done in the cafeteria when it was to be used for an evening meeting.

"And I told her", Mrs. McGrath smiled, "you may think we're crabby. But you ought to be glad your child is eating in that kind of place".

FLAMELESS ELECTRIC HEAT

Folks who have it love it! It warms like sunshine — nice and even, no drafts. And, since it's flameless, there's nothing to create dust and grime. Each room has its own thermostat, so temperatures can be controlled room-by-room. And maintenance costs are practically non-existent. Stop in . . . get all the facts and find out how surprisingly little it costs.

Former Resident Receives Decoration

The 613th Tactical Fighter Squadron stationed at England Air Force Base in Louisiana has received the Air Force's highest unit decoration for meritorious achievement during an overseas deployment and participation in a Nato exercise between Sept. 15, Oct. 6, 1960.

Pilots of the 613th TFS deployed 18 F-100 jet aircraft overseas in a route that took them through Myrtle Beach Air Force Base, S.C., and the United Kingdom.

Specifically mentioned in the citation was an epic 12,000 mile flight to and from the exercise base in Greece. During the flight each pilot recorded at least 10 hours of weather flying and three nighttime hours.

Officials of the 401st Tactical Flighter Wing, the 613th's parent organization at England AFB, said one of three aerial refuelings took place with severe turbulence and rain and snow conditions.

Lt. Col. John W. Smith, Squadron Commander, accepted the award for his squadron. Lt. Col. Smith, a former resident of Andover, is the son of Mrs. Mary K. Smith who resides with her daughter, Mrs. Thomas Brennan, 7 Elm ct.

During the presentation, congratulations were received from President Kennedy.

Inquiry Classes At St. Augustine's

A course of instructions in Catholic teachings will be given by the Rev. Thomas J. Tevington, O.S.A., assistant in St. Augustine's Parish. The course of 12 lectures will be given Monday evenings in the lower church starting Jan. 22.

In announcing the Inquiry Classes Father Tevington said: "In these days, when Christianity is threatened by Communism and materialism, people are in great danger of being led astray by these two evils. When this happens, they lose their sense of direction as regards God and the purpose for which God gave them their lives. To be able to withstand this onslaught on their spiritual lives, they need to draw strength and comfort from religion.

"Many persons neglect or abandon religion because of an ignorance or imperfect knowledge of it, or worse still, because of false ideas about it.

"To help those who are anxious to improve their knowledge of religion, or to acquire a knowledge which they have not got, Inquiry Classes will be held each Monday at 8:15 p.m. in Good Counsel Hall, (lower church) starting Jan. 22."

The classes are open to all adults and involve no obligations.

ASSEMBLY PROGRAM

An assembly program will be held today at Andover High School, at which Dr. E. K. Eberhardt of Bell Laboratories will give an illustrated talk on his trip through Europe.

EDITORIAL THOUGHTS

Urban Renewal On Ballot

The delays in establishing a timetable for the presentation of urban renewal plans – unavoidable though they may be – have given rise to all sorts of rumors, conjecture and pure phantasy.

And this will continue until an established schedule is announced, and all of the detail concerning this project can be published, studied and debated.

We suggest that the entire, broad question – "Shall Andover adopt the Central Urban Renewal Project?" – be placed on the November ballot, and that this decision be made promptly. Educational material can then be provided, allowing the voters ample time to weigh the questions involved.

To place this subject on the ballot seems absolutely fair to the town. By doing so, the Housing Authority will be providing all of the voters an opportunity to decide the question. Probably 85 percent of the voters will be going to the polls in November – a far greater percentage than ever attends town meeting.

If a favorable response is given, the following town meeting can take up the details and approve them in accordance with the wishes of the voters. If it is beaten on the ballot, no one can ever say that a full majority of the voters did not have a chance to express their convictions.

There are several other reasons for this step – the question can not be presented in March because there isn't time enough; calling a special town meeting seems to violate the spirit of the town by-law specifying that financial matters must be declared an emergency before consideration at a special meeting; waiting for March of 1963 is far too long.

We hope that favorable consideration of the suggestion we make here is given by the Housing Authority, and that some prompt indication of this decision is made public.

Then the period of waiting will be over, and the factual material can begin to flow into the voters hands.

Retain Town Meeting

There has been a suggestion, from a report issued at Colby College, that a town manager-selectman form of town government – minus the traditional town meeting – is more practical, more advantageous to the communities.

As we understand the recommendation, those writing the report believe town meeting has become too cumbersome, too much of a minority action. In truth, of course, it is the latter, for a majority vote at town meeting actually has little relation to a majority of the voters. Such a small minority attends town meeting that actions of the meeting are taken by a tiny percentage of the eligible voters.

However much we may frown on the stay-at-home attitude of most voters, it is basically their right to refrain from taking part in their own government. There is no law requiring a voter to attend town meeting, not even a law requiring one to vote, even if eligible. To require these actions would, in itself, be wrong.

Towns, we believe, should carefully consider the consequences of abandoning town meeting. For in fact, the town manager-selectman form as suggested is little different from the manager-council form used in cities. It might be more truthful to suggest changing to a city form, with a city manager, than to masquerade under the town manager-selectman title.

Whatever its defects, and there are many, we don't like to consider giving up town meeting, where at least the interested voters have a chance to take part, personally, in their government.

What, Exactly, Is Merit?

A sharp divergence of opinion among two members of the School Committee, on what constitutes merit, is of sufficient interest to warrant comment.

Chairman Milton J. Meyers believes merit payments should be granted according to the definition of the word:

"To deserve; a mark or token of excellence or approbation."

Member John S. Sullivan believes the merit payment of $500 – presently the only merit payment granted by the Committee – is much more general in meaning. As we understand his comments, merit payments should be granted to most of the teachers fulfilling the longevity requirement of five years in the system; more a token of good performance than excellence.

Sullivan feels that additional merit payments, beyond the first step, should be based on more strict interpretation of the word, with fewer teachers reaching step two and still fewer step three. The original merit plan envisioned three merit raises, based on evaluation of the teacher's performance, of increasing amounts.

This particular exercise in semantics is not theoretical nor wholly unrelated to practical application.

The Committee has retained merit payments in its current budget proposals, although it appeared a few weeks ago that a majority of the Committee favored tossing it out. As late as last week, Dr. Meyers said he would favor discarding the merit plan whenever the superintendent recommended doing so. And Mr. Erickson has commented unfavorably about the plan on more than one occasion.

The reasons for abandoning merit appear to be basically practical: the plan is fine theory, but doesn't work in practice.

The teachers, as a whole, apparently never have approved of the policy. It was recently stated, in fact, that their approval now, if it exists at all, probably results from a feeling that this is a general wage increase rather than an actual determination of excellence as we understand the meaning of the word.

It seems to us that only some type of super-man can really determine excellence because a definition of the terms is so difficult to reach. Within the community, we believe there would be many variations of definition, based on what the individual believes a teacher should do, what a teacher should be. Not all residents want the same performance from the teachers.

For example, the teacher who spends a more-than-usual amount of time with one or two truly gifted children, and successfully so, thus possibly taking some needed time away from others in the class, would deserve merit according to some views. Another teacher, who does not concentrate on the gifted children, but who possibly spends a great deal of time with those on the other end of the academic scale, may be labeled as less-than-excellent by the same group. To the parents of the children helped, however, this teacher becomes the one due merit, not the one dealing with gifted youngsters.

The definition is too subjective, too hard to get down on paper. This may be the most valid reason for abandoning the plan.

What Our Readers Say—

To the Editor of the Townsman:

"The Townsman reported in its Jan. 4 issue that the superintendent of schools is having some 'sleepless' nights at this time of year, for he has to be up early to determine if the weather shall be permitted to close the schools.

"The Town of Greenfield has successfully prevented this problem from arising. School there has been open every term day for the past 33 years. Only eight days have been missed. Those were due mostly to power failure, Greenfield being in a deep snow and ice area.

"The regional high school, which serves Dalton and other towns, has also adopted that policy.

"It would seem that such a policy has much to commend it on the American scene at this time. It takes away decision-making from a government body and returns it to the citizens. It allows the superior and others to exercise their talents by filling an appointment on their own. With much traffic off the highways at such times, they are safer for pedestrians. And many times a school closed in the morning because of weather could well have operated in the afternoon so far as road conditions are concerned for buses."

DAR Heard About Red Cross

A very graphic description of the work of the American Red Cross was given in a talk by Mrs. Irene Libby, head of the Andover Chapter, at the meeting of Priscilla Abbot Chapter, D.A.R., held at the home of Mrs. J. Keith Jones on Washington ave. this past week.

The Red Cross, which came into being about 100 years ago, takes care of many worthy projects; the care of veterans in or after wars and disaster work which comes after floods, earthquakes, fires, and other calamities, when it provides food, clothing and housing for the victims. The organization also has home service and is available 24 hours a day. Its blood donation program is well-known, and in response to this worthy cause it has saved countless lives which would have been lost but for the administration of donated blood.

The Red Cross conducts first aid classes, has a water safety service, a nursing and home-care service and there is no age limit for those who would volunteer for this most worthy cause. It also has a canteen service for those who might not be able to do nursing work, and volunteers are always welcomed. Andover has a Gray Ladies group which visits hospitals, and a production group which sets up programs for this work. Miss Libby said that state officials have said that Andover chapter is one of the best in the state.

The meeting opened at 2 o'clock with a social half hour, dessert being served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Edward Thompson, Mrs. Herbert Ortstein and Mrs. Arthur Reeves. Mrs. Edwin Ordway, the regent presided at the business meeting which followed and devotions and patriotic exercises preceded the routine items. The President General's message was read by Mrs. Joseph Smethurst.

The secretary's report was read by Mrs. Thompson, in the absence of the regular secretary, Mrs. Harry Donovan. The treasurer's report, by Mrs. William Trow, showed a comfortable balance in the treasury, and both reports were accepted as read. Two pertinent papers on National Defense were read by Mrs. Leo O'Connor. One new member has been admitted to the Chapter, her papers having just been approved in Washington.

The Children of the American Revolution Chapter, which has just been started among the Chapters of Andover, Lawrence, Methuen and Reading, has an encouraging number of names of prospective members of the senior organizations, the Sons of the American Revolution and the Daughters.

Mrs. Roland Weeks and Mrs. John Kenyon were appointed delegates to the State Conference in Boston March 20 and 21, and the alternates named are Mrs. Leo O'Connor, Mrs. William Trow and Mrs. Edward Thompson.

Mrs. Otto announced that the American International College in Springfield is no longer on the list of approved schools, as it has many other means of support.

The gymnasium at the Kate Duncan Smith school in the South has been completed. In a report given by Mrs. A. It was voted to send a sum of money to apply to the funds needed. Next month is American History month and the display of the Flag was urged on the members, especially on Lincoln's and Washington's birthdays.

The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. George Winslow, 17 Henderson ave., Feb. 13, when a covered dish supper will be served at 6:30. Members are asked to notice the change of place.

Mrs. Alvin J. Zink, chairman of the Andover Garden Club's Conservation and Roadside Improvement Committee, announces that the conservation committee is sponsoring an open meeting at the home of Mrs. Joseph L. Daly, 300 North Main st., Tuesday, Jan. 23, at 9:45 a.m.

The morning speaker will be Mrs. Adeline Wright, who spent a most interesting two weeks this past summer at the Audubon Camp at Hog Island, Me., and who will speak on her experiences there.

Members of Mrs. Zink's committee are Mrs. Joseph L. Daly, co-chairman; Mrs. John W. Bolton Jr., Miss Bessie P. Goldsmith, advisor; Mrs. William A. Munroe, Mrs. Joseph Myatt and Mrs. Roland H. Sherman.

Photo Exhibit Continues To Spring

"Africa," a major exhibition of magnificent photographs by world-famous photographers, on display at Boston's Museum of Science since last fall, will be held over until spring, the Museum has announced.

The exhibition was originally scheduled to close this week.

Sponsored jointly by the Museum and Massachusetts Institute of technology, "Africa" has received wide acclaim from educators, international visitors, social science students, artists, others. To date, some 60,000 people have viewed the gigantic collection, which features the beauty, diversity and vastness of the African continent, the dramatic attack being made to develop its resources, and the men and women engaged in this endeavor.

"Africa" was originally conceived and executed to time with the opening of the Eighth National Conference for UNESCO, with Africa as its theme, held in Boston last October.

There are 176 photographs in this exhibition, forty of them in color, and many of them mural size. All of the color pictures are by Emil Shulthess, noted Swiss photographer, who traveled 10,000 miles through the continent to obtain his studies. Other world-famous camera artists represented in the collection include Emil Brunner, also of Switzerland, photographer Eliot Elisofon, Margaret Light of the American Geographical Society, and Marc Riboud, Ernst Haas, George Rodger, and Dr. Georg Gerster.

To gather these representative photographs, the Museum's Director of Public Relations, Miss Caroline Harrison, spent several weeks last summer in Zurich, Paris, London, and New York. Director Washburn, whose reputation as a mountain photographer is world-wide, collaborated in the final selection of material and the overall development of the exhibit. The basic design was worked out by Ernst Verner Johnson, a recent graduate of the MIT School of Architecture.

Blue-Ettes Having Successful Year

Mrs. Frank Orlando, who first started the Blue-Ettes Camp Fire Girls in the South School, is conducting its activities with fine success.

The present officers of the organization are: president, Katherine Bradley; vice president, Vickie Gardner; secretary, Claudia Commins; treasurer, Brenda Townsend; inspector, Joanne Craig; leader's helper, Katherine Haust; group historian, Juliana McGovern. Other members include Mary Harris, Lisa Russell and Patricia Townsend.

The project for January included working with felt material, making pincushions and also a Bluebird outfit for dolls.

Mrs. Orlando plans to change officers three times a year so that each girl may serve and acquire the experience which gives them more self confidence and poise.

Anton's Cleaners Awarded Plaque

At a meeting held at Vesper Country Club Thursday evening, Jan. 11, Anton's Cleaners, through its parent organization, Highland Cleaners Inc., was presented a 25-year plaque for service to the Community by the Sanitone Division.

Receiving this distinguished service recognition was Charles Antonopoulos, founder of the business. John Antonopoulos, manager of the local Anton's in Shawsheen served as master of ceremonies for the evening.

Another highlight of the evening program was the announcement by Arthur Antonopoulos, general manager, of a coming expansion program. The first textile maintenance center in New England will be opened in Lawrence during April of this year at an estimated cost of $225,000. Next fall a similar installation will be opened in Chelmsford and about the same time, a second story will be completed at the main plant, 345 Broadway, Lowell.

JOHN ANTONOPOULOS

Expansion marked Anton operations long before the opening of its modern plant at 357 No. Main st. here in May of 1957. Following that event, in 1959, large Anton units were opened at the Sunrise in Lowell and in Wilmington. A complete dry cleaning plant opened the same year in Dracut. A coin laundry was opened in Woburn in 1961, plus the addition of a coin laundry in Dracut and at the Sunrise in Lowell. Growth of the entire organization is reflected in the fact that its staff has grown from 9[illegible] workers in 1951 to over 100 during the past year.

God Moves in a Mysterious Way

God moves in a mysterious way
His wonders to perform;
He plants His footsteps in the sea,
And rides upon the storm.

William Cowper was frail, sensitive, and high strung. After three futile attempts at suicide, being miraculously preserved, he was inspired to write this moving hymn. He lived most of his life in mental gloom. Later, he was helped through his melancholia by his faithful friend, John Newton, the reformed slave trader. Together, they wrote several great hymns.

Submarine cable telephone systems have become a reality for intercontinental communications only within the last decade. The story of their development in this recent conquest of the sea is a fascinating one. The importance of their influence in improving the quality and availability of overseas telephone service can hardly be overestimated.

Working satellite communication systems are still in the future, but they offer an exciting challenge to the ingenuity and engineering ability of workers in the field. Successful systems will open up limitless possibilities for the transmission of both telephone and television information from any part of the globe to any other.

Mr. Elmendorf's experience includes not only these two systems, with which he has been intimately associated, but also coaxial cable systems, which constitute the backbone of our transcontinental communications network. He joined the technical staff of the Laboratories in 1936. During World War II, he was concerned with the development of airborne radar systems. He holds degrees in science and electrical engineering from the California Institute of Technology. He is a senior member of the Institute of Radio Engineers.

Miss Barbara Schneider of Sudbury was a guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Comeau on Lovejoy rd., recently.

NEED LARGER DUMP SITE

handle the sanitary land fill.

Looking at the Committee's report by sections:

Dump Site

The site chosen by the group is adjacent to the present dump, and includes some 60 acres. The report indicates that this area, plus some 19 acres remaining at the present site, will handle the town's dumping problem for 50 years.

The group indicated that all suggested sites for a dump were inspected, and many of the areas were walked over by committee members. None measured up to the present location, however.

Serious problems would result from a re-location of the site, according to members of the study group. They predicted that changing the site would result in lowered assessments in the immediate area, plus plenty of opposition from residents in whatever neighborhood was chosen.

The acquisition of 60 acres in West Andover, the members agreed, will allow an ample buffer zone around the enlarged facility.

There would be little burning - none of materials that throw off the most objectionable smoke and smudge. Rodents would be kept to a minimum by the dumping method.

It was also noted that land where a sanitary land fill operation takes place increases in value, because the area is filled and leveled. A shopping center is built on one such area in Medford, it was noted.

Land Fill Method

A sanitary land fill involves dumping about 10-12 feet of refuse, compacting it and covering with some 18 inches of fill. The compacted area can be used for the same purpose again and again, to whatever height is desired.

It was explained that a layer of refuse and fill may be extended through about 20 acres, then the process can be resumed at the original point of beginning.

The cost of this operation, the Committee felt, will be mainly represented in the cost of gravel.

Town Manager Thomas E. Duff said he estimates some 12,000 yards of fill will be needed for the first year, and this may be reduced by the amount available at the site. This fill may cost less than a dollar a yard, it was estimated.

Need Adequate Equipment

The equipment needed, the report stated, should not be minimized.

The shovel-dozer - a piece of heavy equipment that compacts the material while working oyer the area - is needed, because other communities have found lesser equipment to be insufficient.

The town manager suggested that the smaller tractor purchased in 1961 for the dump may be traded-in, or the town's bulldozer may be involved in the transaction.

The committee agreed that one man, during the hours the dump is open, can handle all but the peak loads. Thus there would be only a moderate increase in salary requirements. The individual would come under a heavy-equipment operator's wage rate, it was noted.

Public Health Problem

Garbage collection, defeated three or four years ago by a slim margin, will again be presented to the town as a public health problem.

And it is also associated with the dump - for the committee believes that as much as one-third of the residents may be dumping garbage at the municipal facility.

Only one-third have contractors picking up the material, it was stated, and no more than another one-third have electrical disposals in the home.

Health Board chairman Robert A. Walsh noted that the problem is one involved in the public's well being - not a luxury item that can safely be deferred.

Included in the proposed contract, it was explained, is the provision that all garbage must be removed from the town by the private contractor picking up the refuse. The work will go out to bids, under the plan.

Mr. Walsh noted that the garbage collection defeat at town meeting several years ago resulted from a lack of support, in main, by those having electrical disposal systems at home. And he suggested that those residents will be asked to pay, through their taxes, only a small amount each year. He also explained that the taxes required to meet the cost of this project may be less than some residents now pay for private collection.

Too Costly

Regarding the refuse collection, the committee has recommended that this be put over to some other time.

Cost factors were involved, as they indicated that some estimates ran as high as $75,000 for this work.

Serving on the committee were Richard McKallagat, chairman, Robert A. Walsh, chairman of the Board of Health, Richard Moody, Joseph Duffy and Lenore Macartney. Elizabeth Nadeau, Board of Health Nurse, and Town Manager Duff served ex-officio.

new Church School schedule.

Following the Service, the Parish adjourned to the Parish House for the conduct of the annual and stated business. In addition to electing the two wardens, Kenneth S. Minard was elected clerk of the Parish, Malcolm Ruhl was elected treasurer and Gardner Shaw and Miss Rebekah L. Taft were elected assistant treasurers. S. Leonard Kent, Harold C. Foreman and Harry Loebel were elected vestrymen for a term of three years.

Mr. and Mrs. William W. Rhoads were singled out as the "couple of the year" and were cited for long and devoted service in many areas to Christ Church.

The rector, Wallace E. Brine, and William W. Rhoads were elected trustees of Christ Church Cemetery. Edmund R. Taylor, Phillips B. Marsden Jr. and Kenneth S. Minard will be the delegates to the Diocesan Convention. Mr. and Mrs. Walter C. Caswell and Howell M. Stillman are the delegates to the Archdeaconry Convention, and the delegates to the Andover Council of Churches are Mrs. T. R. D. Collins and Charles B. Cottrell.

The annual reports of the officers of the Parish and the chairmen of the Committees were all accepted as written, and the new by-laws were voted on the second time. The rector announced the Long Range Planning Committee as follows: C. Carleton Kimball, chairman, Edmund R. Taylor, Peter McKee, Mrs. Lester Thompson, C. Lincoln Giles, Miss Mary Sherman, Mrs. Samuel Rogers, Howell M. Stillman and Donald G. Thompson.

The retiring officers of the Parish were thanked for their loyal service. Retiring from office were William W. Rhoads as warden, Phillips B. Marsden Jr., James A. Watters and Everett T. Autry as vestrymen. At the 11 a.m. service at Christ Church this Sunday, there will be a Service of Installation for the new officers of the Parish and a recognition of those retiring from office.

The main reading room is open daily Monday through Friday from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. Saturday, it is open from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. The Children's Room is open Monday through Friday from 11:30 a.m. to 12 noon, and from 2 p.m. to 6 p.m. The exception to this is Wednesday, on which day the room is open from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Saturday, the Children's room is open from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. and 2-6 p.m. The Ballardvale branch is open Mondays and Thursdays, from 2-5 and 6-8 p.m. All departments are closed on Sundays and holidays.

Film For Mothers

All mothers of the Cardinal group of Littlest Listeners are invited to a special film showing while the children are having their next meeting, Wednesday morning, Jan. 24, at 10 o'clock. The projection equipment is set up in the next room so that the children know that mothers are near at hand. This film, one of a series on child development, is "From Sociable Six to Noisy Nine", a 23 minute study of child behavior at these two levels, with suggestions for parents who are dealing with the problems which these ages present.

Any person in the community who wishes to see this film is cordially invited to attend.

Ballardvale Group

The Littlest Listeners of Ballardvale will meet Thursday, Jan. 18, at 10 o'clock at the branch library room for their usual story hour.

Travel Talk

The first travel talk for several months will be given in the Memorial Hall Library on Friday evening, Jan. 19, from 8 to 9 o'clock, by Mr. P. W. Moody. The subject of the talk, illustrated by colored slides taken during his trip, is "A Southern European Tour."

Anyone who has ever been abroad or has wanted to take a leisurely journey to the southern countries is cordially invited. The talks are informal, those who listen are members of a group of seriously interested viewers, who often take a few minutes after the talk to ask questions, and a general feeling of enjoyment has accompanied each of the previous talks.

The programs are set for one hour, and have always been held on Friday evenings.

Story Hours

On Thursday afternoon, Jan. 18, the story hour for all boys and girls is entitled "Elephants." At least three stories about these large mammals will be told, one of which is "How The Elephant Got His Trunk." No tickets are required, but all are urged to be at the library promptly at 3:35 o'clock.

To Present Play

Four young readers are going to present a short play "A Mad Tea-Party" at the next story hour for boys and girls, to be held Jan. 25 at 3:35 o'clock. Sally and Pamela Bullard, Laurie Foster and Gina Savinelli have been preparing this dramatization of a scene from "Alice In Wonderland", the old favorite in which the Mad Hatter and the Dormouse puzzle Alice by their ideas of a proper tea-party. There will be two stories told, both written by Lewis Carroll for his delightful classic of the little girl who found herself in strange worlds and with strange characters.

Lewis Carroll's birthday is Jan. 27. He was born in 1832, but his stories have never lost their charm for young persons, whether in years or just young at heart.

Lost Anything?

If so, it may be waiting to be claimed on display in the case in the foyer of the library. Parents are asked to look over the things there, many of which have been left by children. Adults are not innocent, either, and should cast an eye during the next few days. It is a surprising collection!

Great Books

A well-attended meeting of the members of the Great Books Discussion Group was held at the library Tuesday evening, Jan. 9, at which time those present voted to begin regular meetings on alternate Tuesdays, at 7:30 o'clock. For the next meeting, Jan. 23, they will prepare Plato's "Apology and the Crito". Readings for the year were planned at this time, and full information about the readings may be had at the library. New members are welcome to come in at any time. The only requisite - an interest in good books, good discussion and one evening, every two weeks.

Advisory Council Meeting Jan. 24

There will be a meeting of the Women's Advisory Council at the Essex Agricultural School Wednesday, Jan. 24, from 9:30 a.m. to noon. All Council members and Council representatives from Homemaker's Extension clubs are asked to attend. A coffee hour will be held 9:15-9:30 in the Alumni Field House.

Mrs. Edward Ryan of Manchester will discuss "The Challenge in Massachusetts". Mrs. Ryan is known to many as president of the Massachusetts Congress of Parents and Teachers. She is also a member of the Governors Committee on Children and Youth. Program planning will also be a part of the meeting.

League Unit Meetings Coming

League units, considering important local issues and state legislation in which the League of Women Voters is interested, will be held next Tuesday, Jan. 23, at 9:45 a.m. at Cooley House and at 7:45 p.m. at the home of Mrs. E. W. McLean, 53 Salem st. and next Thursday, Jan. 25, at 9:45 a.m. at the home of Mrs. George Luedke, 75 Porter rd. and at 7:45 p.m. at the home of Mrs. C. Carlton Kimball, 4 Central ln.

In recognition of a widespread and growing concern with the business of government in Massachusetts, the League has opened the evening unit meetings to the husbands of all members. In addition, Representatives Arthur Williams, Roger Ingalls and William Longworth will attend these evening discussions.

For consideration at these discussions will be a number of proposed legislative bills in the areas of education, taxes and the parole system and such lively local issues as the operation of the town manager form of government in Andover, the Conservation Commission, and the Recreation Council.

Since these units are a wonderful opportunity to become informed, to exchange opinions, and to meet informally with legislators, all members of the League and their husbands are urged to attend.

Phillips Faculty Plans Series

Sorry - no adults! The delightful lecture series entitled "Learning to Look", being planned at the Boston Musuem of Fine Arts, is strictly for children aged 8 to 14. Through the use of slides, actual illustrations and audience participation, the audience learns how to "see" a painting.

The series will run for three consecutive Saturdays beginning Jan. 27 with "The Language of Looking", continuing Feb. 3 with "Pole Vaulting and Painting" and ending Feb. 10 with "We Paint What We Know". Each session will be given in the Boston Museum's Lecture Hall and will last approximately two hours.

Mrs. David Lampert of Topsfield, chairman of this children's program, announced that the instructors are from the faculty of Phillips Academy. Gordon Bensley, a painter, is the director of the Phillips Academy Audio-Visual Center. Mr. Bensley studied at Andover, Yale, Beaux Arts in Paris and the Institute of Design in Chicago. Gerald Shertzer, a sculptor, prepared at Cooper Union and Yale.
